Seventh International Spring School
“Nonlinear Analysis, Function Spaces and Applications”
Prague, July 17-22, 2002
Second Announcement

The Seventh Spring School, which continues the series of six schools organized by the Mathematical Institute in 1978, 1982, 1986, 1990, 1994 and 1998, will take place in Prague from Tuesday, July 16 (the day of arrival) to Monday, July 22, 2002. The scientific programme will start on Wednesday morning, July 17, and will end at noon on Monday, July 22.

1. Scientific programme

a) Main (invited) lectures:

J. Appell (University of Würzburg): À la recherche du spectre perdu: an introduction to nonlinear spectral theory;

J. Cerdà (University of Barcelona): The commutators of analysis and interpolation;

D.G. De Figueiredo (University of Campinas): the title will be announced soon;

B. Franchi (University of Bologna): BV spaces and rectifiability for Carnot-Carathéodory metrics;

P. Koskela (University of Jyväskylä): Metric Sobolev spaces;

J. Malý (Charles University, Prague): Coarea formula;

C.J. Neugebauer (Purdue University): A covering theorem with applications, Convergence of sequences of operators.

b) Poster session: A poster session will be organized during the school. The participants are welcome to submit their posters.

c) Short communications: A very limited number of short oral contributions will be accepted. The organizing committee reserves the right to choose the talks.

2. Conference site

The spring school will take place at the campus of the Czech University of Agriculture in Suchdol (at northern outskirts of Prague).

3. Conference fee

The conference fee for a regular participant is EUR 280. A reduced rate of EUR 220 will be offered provided that the payment is made before February 28, 2002. A reduced rate of EUR 250 will be charged if the payment is made before May 31, 2002. The conference fee for accompanying persons is EUR 50.

The fee covers scientific and social programme (including excursion), one copy of abstracts of invited lectures and one copy of proceedings of the invited talks at the spring school.

4. Registration form

In the case of interest please fill in the electronic registration form at `http://www.math.cas.cz/~nafsa7`.

Right after your registration form will have been posted, a three digit registration number will appear on your screen (example: 135). This number should be used when the payment of the conference fee is made (see the following section). Your registration number will be made visible at the electronic preliminary list of participants.

5. The bank connection

Payment of the fee should be made either in cash at the registration desk in Prague or it may be remitted by a bank transfer to where "abc" is your registration number (example: VS 5221135). A copy of the transfer slip should be presented at the registration desk. Please make sure that the commission fee is added so that the required amount reaches the account of the spring school. Unfortunately, neither cheques nor credit cards can be used and will not be accepted.

Česká národní banka, Na příkopě 28, Praha 1, Czech Republic, Account No. 17836-031/0710, Details of payment: VS 5221abc,

6. Board and lodging

Each participant is responsible for organizing his or her accommodation in Prague during the spring school. Special offers are available in: Pension Jas (five minutes walk from the conference site) and the student residence JIH (right on the campus). The contact addresses and phone numbers are available at

`http://www.math.cas.cz/~nafsa7`

The participants who wish to use the offer of Pension Jas must book their accommodation before April 30, 2002. The participants who wish to use the offer of the student residence JIH must book their accommodation before May 31, 2002.

When booking the accommodation in either Pension Jas or the student residence JIH, please indicate that you are a participant of the spring school NAFSA 7.

7. Further information

Please see the conference web-site or contact the organizers by e-mail:
